It is reported that a number of box cars had floated out at the mouth of the Big Sandy, which had come from the line of the Norfolk and Western. It is almost certain that these came from the Big Sandy branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio, as Greefay's Creek, twenty miles above Lewisa, is said to be higher than it was ever known to be.

Interest in the strike among the miners along the Norfolk and Western has been subordinated to the results of the flood. In fact, the great strike made by nature has caused everything of an industrial nature to be sus-pended, and it will be several weeks before there will be a possibility of shipping coal, so that the mine oper-ators have no need of the miners work-

Estimates of the property loss in the flooded district are growing larger, and today the leading officials of the Norfolk and Western fix the damage to railroad property between Cooper and Vivian, W. Va., at $1,000,000. This covers a territory of twenty-five miles in length, and the same officials consider that the damage to the property of the coal operators of the field will far exceed this amount. The total loss is now approximately estimated at $2,000,000.

TRAIN BRINGS IN NEWS. HEAVENS OPENED AND POURED

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.) ROANOKE (Va.) June 24.—When the passenger train from the west over the Norfolk and Western Railroad ar rived this morning there were many people at the station who had waited anxiously all night for the belated news carrier from the devastated coal field of West Virginia. Among those on this train who had been in the storm were a prominent business man of Roanoke, several railroad men and a woman and two children. They came direct to Roanoke from Vivian, and were compelled to walk eleven miles to Ennis, where they were enabled to get a train for this city. These passengers feel confident that not more than 100 persons have lost their lives. The mountain district lying back from the railroads probably has suffered heavily, and the exact loss of life will not be known for several days.

The slowness of the recovery of the bodies is because the corpses of the drowned are hidden in masses of débris. Some of these piles are thirty feet high, and it is the work of days to search through them. It has been suggested that the plan would be to burn these masses of débris, but the friends of the dead are loud in denunciation of the idea. Many of the wrecked cars along the Elkhorn Valley have been washed down the river, and probably will be a total loss. East of Ennis, the train a total loss. East of Ennis, the train had little trouble getting through to Bluefields. Two bridges are gone between Vivian and Welsh. At Shawnee, the Shawnee Coal Company lost all their mine mules, which were in the stable when the storm swept down on them. A report from Keystone has it that a mob of negroes there refuse to work for $2$ a day, but are loafing around and watching their chance to steal from the debris.

Another report says that the number of dead there is seventeen, and that of this number ten have been buried. Newspapermen have gone to the coal fields to get reliable information, and it is expected that something definite will be known within the next twenty-four hours.

HAY WILL STAY. HAS WORK IN HAND.

HAS WORK IN HAND.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

WASHINGTON. June 24.—Secretary Hay has in hand several matters of negotiation that are very near to his heart. For instance, he has, after the most exhaustive investigation and sounding of Senators, satisfied himself that he has been able to find a firm foundation on which to erect a canal treaty to replace the Hay-Pauncefote treaty that failed, and one that will be almost certain to command the approval of the Senate. It is his ambition to remove absolutely as a source of possiol; conflict in the future the misunderstandings resulting from the efforts to apply the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to the conditions of today. This object is almost within reach, he feels, and his friends and intimates here are satisfied that he will allow no private affliction to intenfere with the consummation of this pian.

It is entirely possible for Secretary Hay to secure a full opportunity to rest and recuperate from the blow of his son's death, without sacrificing the chance of completing the negotiations for this treaty in season for its submission to Congress at the next regular season.

Already he had begun to plan for an BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

for this treaty in season for its submission to Congress at the next regular soar on.

Already he had begun to plan for an absence from Washington from early in June until about the middle of next fall, and he might have planned to go away at an even earlier date had he not desired to remain at the President's right hand until Mrs. McKinley's condition permitted of her removal to Canton. Therefore, it is stated at the State Department, that there is no good reason why the Secretary should return to Washington before next fall, by which time it is confidently expected he will be able to undertake without sacrifice all the duties of his office. In this state of affairs the officials feel warranted in denying that there is any foundation for the rumors of the intended resignation.

The Treasury Department on Saturday had completed the settlement of the accounts of Adelbert Hay as United States Consul at Pretoria, and warrants were drawn for $2778 due him upon the settlement by the auditor for the State Department. The warrants will be forwarded to the State Department, and will become part of Mr.
Hay's estate.

The employés of the State Department have arranged to send a floral tribute to Cleveland to be placed on the casket of Mr. Hay.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, June 24 .- [Exclusive Dis y the Southern Pacific manag on the next few years with a view to clacing the system in the best possible ondition physically and in equipment and facilities.

The problem of bringing the road up to the standard in these respects has been given to President Hays for solution and most of his time will be devoted to it. It was partially with a view to giving Hays every opportunity to accomplish this task in the quickest essible time that Harriman has give possible time that Harriman has given the traffic of the road exclusively into the charge of Stubbs.

Although the Southern Pacific in its entirety, is fine property, there are few, if any, great systems where there is as much need of such immense expenditure. Under the management of Huntington little mones, comparatively speaking, was expended yearly for betterments and equipment. Accordingly, when an unprecedented era of prosperity began, the company found itself flooded with traffic hard to handle under existing conditions. That it was under existing conditions. That it was successfully taken care of speaks well for the management of the road. Harriman and his directors, however, realize that the time has arrived when thousands of miles of fifty-two-pound rails must be replaced with those weighing clabby-five or niety pounds, so that must be replaced with those weights, so that engines weighing between 100 and 125 tons may safely be operated over them at a high rate of speed. At least $3,906-600 will be ret aside this year for equipment alone.

Montana Statesman Claims to Have Purchased the Disputed Property at a Tax Sale-Prominent Attorneys are Engaged by Both Sides and a Legal Fight is Looked For.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.I CARSON (Nev.) June 24.—The case of Senator W. A. Clark and the Union of Senator W. A. Clark and the Union Pacific Railroad over a right of way through Southern Nevada came up in the United States District Court this morning. An injunction was allowed the Union Pacific some time ago, and the Clark forces are here to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

Little was done at today's session, except to show maps and plans of the grade constructed several years ago by the Oregon Short Line. The route in question is the disputed ground. Sen-question is the disputed ground. Senator Clark claims the grade by right of purchase at a delinquent tax sale.

A number of attorneys on both sides have arrived here by special train. The trail will occupy several days.

LAW TEST IN NEVADA.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

(CARSON (Nev.) June 24.—Attorney W. H. Herrin of the Southern Pacific law department. filed a suit today in the United States Court of this city asking an injunction against the various assessors of the State to pre-cent them from levying and collecting taxes against the corporation on the ground that they have no authority under the new revenue law, and that they, or a majority of them, entered into a conspiracy to levy unjust and burdens come taxes against the company in order that other classes of people should escape their just burdens of taxation.

The claim is made that railfonds cannot be properly classed under the new law, and that the assessors of to county have no right to say what taxes shall be levied upon property in another county, and that the counties through which no road runs had no right to vote upon the valuation of properties situated in other counties. The claim is made that railfonds cannot be properly classed under the new law, and that the assessors of one county have no right to say what taxes shall be levied upon property in another county, and that the counties through which no road runs had no right to vote upon the valuation of properties situated in other counties. The asserors are clied to appear in court, and will be called to answer July 15. The complainant alleges that the valuation on the property per mile should be from 18000 to 12,000 on main tracks, and 33500 on side tracks. The complaint is signed by Isaac Requa, vice-president of the road.

DEMANDS AND RAIDS.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

LONDON, June 24.—A dispatch from Peking, dated June 24, to the Times says that all the ministers of the foreign powers at Peking, with the exception of Sir Ernest Satow, the British Minister, have agreed to the Russian proposal to increase the Chinese tariff on imports to 10 per cent. In the event of a deficiency in the service of the indemnity. Sir Ernest Satow declares that Great Britain will only agree to such an increase in duty in return for the total abolition of the likin tax on internal and other concessions.

The correspondent of the Times points out that the indemnity demanded by the powers from China dees not represent the real amount of the money penalty inflicted on China. as now allowance has been made for the rich hauls of treasure in Manchurian cities, and the contents of the Times are also secured by Russia, and the larke sums which Germany has secured by systematic raiding of Chi Li and other provinces.

MISSOURI STRAWBERRIES.

Exhibit Attracting Attention at Buffalo-Excellent Shipping Qualities of the Gandy Berry.

falo—Excellent Shipping Qualities of the Gandy Berry.

[Exposition Circular:] Sixteen thousand boxes of strawberries arrived at the Pan-American Exposition from Missouri on June 3. These came from Central Missouri in and about Springfield and Monette. They were picked on the 30th—Decoration Day—and sent on in refrigerator cars by freight. About 1600 boxes were put on exhibition in the Missouri division of the Horticultural building.

These include Gandy, Bubach, Haveriand, Warfield and Philips seedlings. The Philips seedling is a new berry in the eastern market, and a striking variety. It is very large and of irregular and peculiar shape.

The Haverland is a smaller fruit, but of excellent flavor. The Gandy seems a very fine shipper. Though picked a week before it seemed as fresh as if just off the vines.

The others are well known varieties both in the East and the West.

These berries are not from hot houses or forcing beds, but direct from the immense open beds—just such berries as Missourians have been enjoying for a month or six weeks.

This display has been the center of attraction in the Horticultural building. People have flocked around it and gone away with longing unless they were fortunate enough to get a taste of the delicious fruit.

"I haven't had a whiff of such berries since I was a child in Missouri," raid a sweet old lady in a wheel chair whom the fragrance of the fruit had greeted at the east entrance.

In spite of being six days off the vines, the fruit was rich in color and flavor, varying in shade from the blushing red of the Gandy to the rich deep crimson of the Haverland.

They tell some fabulous stories about berry growers in Missouri who train up single vines and raise berries the vines of applies, but these are believed only by Missourians.

'Gentlemen of the Convention: Our approaching election will be the most important held this year in the United States. It is but a State election in name, but it will be distinctively national in both character and importance. The administration of Gov. NATIONAL QUESTIONS.

"The Legislature chosen this year will be charged with the duty of electing a United States Senator, and redistricting the State for representation in Congress. We now have two Republican Senators and seventeen Republican Senators and seventeen Republican Senators and seventeen Republican members in the House of Representatives. If the next Legislature should be Democratic, we will have but one Senator, and not more than tweive Republican Congressmen, and probably not more than ten—the number we were allowed the last time a Democratic Legislature gerrymandered the State—and this reduced representation in the National House of Representatives would be fastened upon us. not "All this might be truthfully said as to the election of members of Congress from any State, but it is particularly true when spoken of Ohio. This is the President's own State. In population, wealth, intelligence and influence we stand in the very forefront. Ohio represents the average sentiment of all the States. When she speaks the whole country gives heed. Our influence affects the President, affects Congress,

"The achievements of the past four years are still in large measure incomplete and insecure. We have unexampled prosperity, but a Democratic wave would blight it. We have one hope remained, and that was the Supreme Court, but, now, alas! that, too, is gone.

"Under such circumstances any other party would dissolve and die, but not so with the Democratic party. Notwithstanding all, it still lives, as evil lives. From November last until April it appeared to be in a state of becoming humility, occupied with retrospection, introspection and plans of reorganization. For the first time in its history it seemed to have a realizing sense of its utter unfitness for public trust, and to be seriously concerned with plans to rid itself of Populism, communism and all the other isms that marked its departure from Jeffersonian patriotism and Americanism. This was a good work, but it was not completed, and never will be.

"If the Constitution and all the laws of the United States, not locally inapplicable, had followed the flag, and gone into force and effect there as soon as it was raised, as the Democratio party contended, it would have been impossible to have relieved their distress, or to have established a successful government of any kind. Instead of peace, order, and progress, which we have in that island today, we would have had universal chaos and universal failure.

"Such a theory would have required all tariff duties on imports into Porto Rico from foreign countries to be collected and paid into the treasury of the United States at Washington, not for the benefit of the people of that island, but for the common benefit of the whole United States. It would have required the imposition of our heavy internal-revenue taxes without ability on their part to pay, or on our part to collect. It would have required the immediate substitution of our laws for theirs, and their faithful observance of the same before they had opportunity to know or to learn what they were. It would have required the immediate introduction of our codes of procedure in civil and criminal cases without even the judges on the bench or the lawyers at the bar knowing how to put them into operation.

"To have adopted such a construction of our Constitution would have made the Filipinos and the Porto Ricans, most of whom are wholly unfit to govern themselves, citisens of the United States, with full power to participate with all other citisens in governing us. There is no end to the difficulties and the absurd consequences that would have ensued.

This great work of the hour is the establishment of a stable and successful government in the Philippia Had the Democratic view prevai Had the Democratic view prevailed this would have been impossible. The way is now clear and well defined. We can go forward intelligently. This is not a mere political matter. It is also a practical business question, affecting all classes of the American people, and no class more directly than our wage workers. We have reached a point in our industrial development where we produce more than we consume. We must find markets for the surplus, or quit producing it. We cannot restrict without cutting down the pay roll. That is one thing the Republican party never shortens, but always lengthens. "We can get partial relief by tariff revision and reciprocity treaties with European and South American countries, but the greatest markets of the world are in the Far East. We want our fair share of them, and intend to have it, and the way to secure it is not to baul down the flag and run away, but to remain and hold on to the position, the prestige, the advantage and the coportunities that we now enjoy. When men talk about overthrowing the Supreme Court decisions in the Porto Rican cases, they are striking also at the Philippines and are rhising issues that not only affect the vital character of our government, but also affect the wages of every but also affect the wages of ever man in the United States who ear his bread by the sweat of his brow.

THE DEMOCRATIC RECORD. "It seems surprising that any party could take such a position, and yet it is just like the Democratic party to do so, for during the last fifty years it has never conceded to the general govhas never conceded to the reneral gov-ernment any disputed power, nor struck one lick-for labor. It denied the power to preserve the Union. It denied the power to abolish slavery; it denied the power to protect our in-dustries; it denied the power to estab-lish the gold standard, and now it de-nies the power to hold possessions, and govern them according to common sense, although the Constitution itself expressly so provides.

sense, although the Constitution itself expressly so provides.

"And as to labor, although constantly posing as its friend and champion, it has been at all times its inveterate enemy. It was the enemy of labor when it upheld slavery, by which all labor was disgraced and degraded, it was the enemy of labor through all the years of its opposition to a protective tariff by which we saved the labor of this country from competition with the underpaid labor now in its contention that we have no power to protect the wage workers of

The laboring men of this country are men of brains, of intelligence, of judgment, of keen memory and of good associations, and, therefore, they have denied these appeals; they will deny them again, for they know that if Democratic ideals prevail prosperity will vanish, and the pride and glory of the hour will turn to shame and humiliation.

Except only Washington and Lincoln, no President has had such opportunities as have fallen to McKinley. Not one has escaped him. All have been improved to the honor and glory of the republic. No, emergency has arisen that he has not triumphantly met, and no duty of war, peace or diplomacy has been so delicate or so difficult that he has got performed it grandly and successfully. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is much discouragement over the military situation in South over the military situation in South Africa, without definite news of any fresh disaster. The skirmish at Waterkloof is proof that the Boers are in fighting form, and are not invading Cape Colony merely for the purpose of obtaining supplies and remounts. The invaders hace clearly railied their forces, and French has work to do in the Dutch section, where his ma-neuvers were successful fifteen months ago.

The newspapers have so little war news that he suspicion is created that the censor is holding back much infor-mation of an unfavorable tenor. Some of the military experts in the House

In some cases what was the church property is owned by companies, and there is a question when the agent attempts to collect the rent about his right to do so. Of-course, my action was merely a temporary expedient, and I acted arbitrarily, believing such action was necessary for the peace of the community at that time."

Gen. Batesia attention was called to a publication in the New American of May 3, published in Manils, to the effect that Datto Mandi has ordered his slaves set free. Datto Mandi is the famous Moro chieftain of Zamboanga, and the publication stated that he had abolished slavery within his district, and ordered that no slaves be bought or sold henceforth by any of his people.

FREEING THE SLAVES.

"I had not expected any such favorable action," said Gen. Bates, "though I have the highest respect for Mandi. It seems to me that it is expecting almost too much; it seems to me peoplought to be paid something for these slaves. My agreement with them, in order to abolish slavery, was that a small amount should be paid for the slaves. I wanted to fix an amount and they asked that it be the market value, and I agreed to that. My idea was that the slaves might pay a small amount, and I supposed the United States government would foot the bill finally. Their market value was about $20. No census having been taken, it is impossible to tell how many slaves there are. They can hardly be regarded as slaves, anyway, but that has been so generally discussed that it is well understood. They are mere retainers, and very often voluntarily so, because they wanted the protection of a powerful datto.

"Mandi has been pronounced in his American sympathies ever since I have known him. He asked for an American flag at once, and put it up, and in many places where it would incur antagonism, but he cared sothing for that. He said he had always been dathed to be an American citisen. He offered to bring his people to fight alongs the [New York Tribune:] New-York sponge dealers are wondering what is going to become of their business. The supply of sponges is not increasing, while the demand is growing larger every year. Five years ago the price of sponges began to go up, and this season's quotations show a rise of nearly 160 per cent. over the prices of 1896 and 1896. Many varieties cost the buyers on the fishing grounds more today than they formerly sold for in local markets. A william-st. importer, in speaking of the present condition of the sponge trade, said yesterday to a Tribune reporter:

"A constantly increasing demand for sponges and a stationary yield has put prices to a point where wholesalers are at their wit's end to make a profit. The competition between buyers at the fishing grounds has become almost ruinous. Many dealers, especially in England, are introducing foreign substances into their sponges in order to make a greater profit. They use molasses and sand or sait to make them heavier, and press them into moulds to give them better shape.

"There seems little prospect of developing new fishing grounds. The last sponge bed to be discovered was in British Honduras. An Englishman imported a score of Greek divers to that field about three years ago. Only two are now at work, as the sponges were of so low a grade that they could only be improved by expensive cultivation. The yield of 'sheepawool', or high grade sponges in the Florida grounds has been steadily decreasing since 1896. In that year 231,000 pounds were marketed. Last year the total product weighed 181,000 pounds. The deficiency has been partly made up by an increase in the yield of 'grass' or third grade sponge of from 21,000 to 109,260 pounds."

"There is a very strong desire among the Filipinos for complete independence, even on the part of the more intelligent people, who will admit that they are not at present capable of self-government. They wish to have the hope of independence in the future. That is, I think, the sentiment of a large majority of the people; they wish at least that much. The people are anxious for schools, and all classes want them. They want to learn English, acquinaldo himself, I understand, is studying English. The children are anxious to learn English, and their parents wish them to do so."

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The steamer St. Denis arrived here today with a strange story told to her officers by Capt. Hall of the sloop Sadie at Cedros Islands. Hall had been at Cedros Islands. Hall had been mixed up in several mysterious affairs along shore, and his story fails to disclose the object of this cruise. He says that while on the way south he enchored his vessel off San Diego, coming ashore in a rowboat, fearing his crew would desert him. At Cedros Jeiands he went ashore for water, when a sailor who accompanied him escaped. Another sailor tried in vain to escape by swimming, Hall overtaking him in Another sailor tried in vain to escape by swimming, Hall overtaking him in the boat and tying him to the mast. Hall returned for water, and the sailor afterward escaped. The woman whom Hall calls his wife tried and failed. People here who know Hall believe he is mentally unbalanced. He claims to be in search of hidden treasure.

THE OIL FIELDS NEAR SANTA MONICA.

COAST COUNTRY TO THE NORTH ATTRACTS ATTENTION.

affine Wax-Wild Gas Gusher Rips

"wildcat" has littl to show. There is one undeveloped section, however, where even at this time the interest of oil men and capital is being enlisted. Though a "wildcat," the coast country from Santa Monica northward is a novelty, and on account of its unusual features seems to justify the awakening of interest in its possible productiveness.

water strata have been encountered, and both were cased off with but slight delay.

Two miles beyond the Gaffey well William Dryden is drilling on the Whitworth property. The hole is some distance from the beach, and has been sent in almost 600 feet without finding any strong indications of oil.

Another man is operating in Las Flores Caffon, about eleven miles from Santa Monica. This is the second attempt of R. D. Morris to find oil. The new well is a quarter of a mile from the beach, and near an outcropping of black shale.

A mile beyond this property is Carbon Caffon, where, perhaps, the most remarkable seepage or outcropping of live oil shale in the district is found. Like the rest of the country the formation on the walls of the caffon is broken, with a decided dip from the cean. Experts who have examined the field declare there is oil there, and that if will be found in large quantities. The opinion expressed is that the oil seepage has been forced up by gas pressure, and that at a depth between 400 to 700 feet oil should be found. No one has come forward with the capital to make a test, and there is now talk of a cooperative effort.

Beyond Carbon Caffan, and just north of the F. W. Rindge ranch, a Peatlands Rancher Cut in Back by a Laborer. Lynch Talk.

SANTA ANA, June 24.-[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.) There is Correspondent.] There is 8 strong talk of a lynching at 8 Talbert tonight. Only the 8 subject is lacking, but it is believed he will be caught. The officers will need to exercise great precaution to avert

Lewis Wells, a well-known rancher of the peatlands, was stabbed in the back by John Crutchens, a young man from Arkansas, and is not expected to recover. Crutchens is the man the officers and the neighbors and friends of Wells are trying to capture. It appears to have been an unprovoked and murderons assault. Crutchens had been working for Wells and yesterday, while just recovering from a protracted spree, went to the Wells home to get his wages. Wells said he could not pay him until soon after the first of next month, as he had stated when the work was done, and Crutchens drew a large pocket knife and lunged at his former employer.

Then there was a desperate struggle. The men clinched and Crutchens twice drove the blade deep in Wells's back and twisted it in the bloody gashes. Wells got the wouldbe murderer's nose in his mouth and chewed it nearly Crutchens finally broke away and ran. He has relatives in the peatlands and he was expected to show up there last night. The house was watched, but he failed to appear. He also has relatives in San Diego county, and the officers there are on the lookout. He is about 35, heavy set and sandy complexioned.

BEAUMONT'S BIGGEST GUSHER.

BEAUMONT (Tex.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most phenomenal event in the history of the Beaumont field occurred at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when gas, in the well being bored by the J. M. Guffey Petroleum company in the midst of the other gushers, broke loose and tore everything in its pathway in small particles. The drillers had drilled through the cap rock just over the oil sand, but nothing happened, and they were in the act of removing the drilling pipe, having taken out about 500 feet, leaving 400 feet in the hole, when the gas broke loose and shot the pipe out of the top and over the derrick like a rocket. This was followed by a terrific roaring sound of escaping gas and water. Sand and water spouted 300 feet into the air. The heavy drilling rig was lifted clear of its foundation, and set to one side, while the whole top of the derrick, which was made of heavy timber, was torn to splinters. It is impossible to approach closer than 100 feet of the well, and the drillers have not the slightest idea how it can be cropped. Some think it will blow itself out, and other think it will be as stable as the oil field itself. Thousands of people are driving to the field tonight to see the wonder. There is but very little oil in the discharge, though the well is close in the defined oil territory, and is drilled to the oil-bearing sand, alepth of 200 feet, where all the wells have found oil.

The Herwood Oil Company's No. 3 well, about 500 yards away, came in at noon today. It was a gusher, which epouted over the top of the derrick at the first trial.

There is no human way to stop the gas well, and unless it blows itself out it might bring about fearful dertruction by catching fire.

PEACE MAKER'S WORK.

With Apparently Good Intention, He Mixes Up in a Fight and Kills a Stranger in Chicago.

(BT THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.I CHICAGO, June 24.—A man whose intentions apparently were those of a peacemaker became a manslayer shortly before midnight, when William Moriarity, a bill postera was shot to death. There had been a quarrel and a fight, in which three non-combatants were injured. Bricks and stones were riging through the air as four bill posters, one of whom was Moriarity, fought out a grievance that had its source in Moriarity's discharge from the services of the bill-posting company. BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.

The man who did the shooting was standing on the sidewalk on the opposite side of the street. When the fight was at its worse he was seen to draw a revolver from his pocket and advance to the center of the street, where he hesitated. Then, raising the pistoi without apparent aim, he fired, and the builet struck Moriarity between the eyes. The man fell dead and the slayer ran away, escaping. Three arrests were made, the men taken in custody being Charles Hill, Thomas Brennan and Al Owsley. They were the three men with whom Moriarity fought.

DENVER, June 24.—The Times today made the announcement that Col. Charles E. Hasbrook has retired from the management of the Denver Times to succeed Col. W. E. clevated scats on the large stage, which was hung with large and small American flags and pennants and draped with tricolored bunting. The front of the stage was massed with flowers, and at either side were immense bouquets and baskets filled with fragrant blossoms. The sides were arranged with growing paims and potted plants and ferns, forming a magnificent setting for the graduates, especially the young ladies, who appeared in dainty evening gowns.

The exercises were of a high order. The programme opened with an invocation by Rev. Charles C. Pierce, followed by a whistling solo by Miss Hazel Bryson. Bhe was heartily applauded, and was obliged to respond to an encore. The Euterpean Quartette sang "Breezes of the Night" by Lamothe, which was so well received that they were called back to the stage the third time. The quartette is composed of J. F. Dupuy, first tenor; F. E. Nay, second tenor; L. Zinnamon, bartione, and F. W. Wallace, bass. Miss Edith Lemmert gave three selected readings. Her work was exceedingly well done. The audience was so enthusiastic in its calls for her return that it became necessary for her to appear the third time. Rev. George Thomas Dowling, D.D., ector of Christ Churgh, very feliciously addressed the graduates. Dr. Dowling said that it should be the aim of every man to fit himself for business. He said that a young man could establish for himself an independence in a business college that is not obtainable in any other school work. A doung man is not responsible for the material put in him, but he is responsible for what he makes of that material. He told the graduates that books are the best companions that they can find. He spoke briefly in regard to the use of many, urging all to spend money apward and not downward.

A. Horatio Cogswell of Berkeley gave two well-rendered baritone solos, after which President E. R. Shrader made a orlef address. Mr. Shrader gave a few words of explanation, telling the difference between conducting a business college and a public school. He said that

In Camp Los Angeles.

A recent copy of the Yosemite Tourist, published in Yosemite Valley, has the following to say regarding Camp Los Angeles: "Pleasantly situated has this party of three sections been during the last ten days. Their camp is on the bank of Yosemite Creek, almost within the spray of the great fall, whose roaring has luiled them to sleep or awakened them at an early hour. Their camping outfit is one of the most complete to visit the Yosemite this season. The party conclusion of the following: Dr. H. I. Hoppins, Mrs. Dr. A. M. Hoppins, Miss. Della D. Hoppins and Miss. Bertha Patterson. This is the first section. The second one consists of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Millard, Claude Millard, Mrs. La Baume and W. A. Lester, the bugler, sil of the above being from Los Angeles. The third section consists of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chaffee and children, and JH. Davison, all of Ventura. The Los Angeles section will cross the Sierras to Lake Mono, and then down to Bishop and home during the next six weeks or two months, while the ventura party will return home at once. The Hoppins section visited here six years since, and they all expect to come again."

Miss Neville." who is so far above him in station that—as such stories go in books and plays—his suit seems hopeless. There is a designing villain, as a matter of course, who is a suitor for the hand of the fair young heroine. There is also a Tangled Web of plot and counter-plot, of misunder-standing and of heartbreak. The course of true love never did run smoothly since the world began to turn upon its axis, and all mankind to "turn with it, heads and tails." But in this excellent drama, as the story moves forward to its dénouement, the Tangled Web is unravelted, the villain is foiled, the misunderstandings are straightened out, and Love triumphs over all, as is customary in well-regulated novels and dramas.

Although the material of the story is rather commonplace, it is woven together with artistic skill, and the re-

Although the material of the story is reather commonplace, it is woven together with artistic skill, and the result is a play of unusual interest. This is heightened by the splendid dramatic work of Mr. Miller and his aides, who bring out all the strong points of the play. In less competent hands the result would be far different, and the faults of the play would be more apparent. Mr. Miller's work in the role of Eric Temple is full of virility, and is notable at most points for its indication of reserve power. The climax of the third act is strongly wrought out, and reaches the limit of intense action without overdoing the effects aimed at Mrt. Miller's methods have much originality, and he won fairly the heartbursts and the handbursts of applause which greeted him.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the work of Arthur Elliott as Lord Neville. It is a strong character conception, magnificently worked out. Charles Cherry enacts the part of Sir Goeffrey Ponifiret with becoming grace and sang-froid, giving it its true place and color in the dramatic picture. It is a thankless role, and Mr. Cherry doesn't get many "hands." But he deserves them for a faithful and forceful interpretation of the character of Maj. Twombley. Harry S. Northrup—though he makes up a trifle younger than Capt. O'Hara—as it would seemouth to be, does full justice to that role in the matter of action. The Peter Padbury of Oits Turner is a clear conception, consistently carried out. The same comment may be made upon the work of Thomas S. Lowell as M. D'Arville. William R. Chase presents a oualn't character bit as "a chalrman." Florence Rockwell enacts the role of Miss Neville (Margaret) with fine sincerity and denth of feeling; also with force and fire where these qualities are demanded, and with artistic skill at all times.

week, with a matinee on Saturday.

Mr. Neill administered a wholesome rebuke, in the middle of the second act, to some bood ums in the gallery who persisted in disturbing the play at critical points by uncalled-for remarks and other demonstrations. Stopping abruptive in the middle of a speech, he styped out of the character in the play leng enough to declare that if the disturbances did not cease forthwith he shauld ring the curtain down and not raise t again until the offenders were removed. The actor spoke with much warmth, and there was no doubt that he meant, every word. His remarks were timely and had the desired effect. Such practices as he complained of have been altogether too common in the past, and it is time they vere suppressed. People who pay money to witness a theatrical performance have a right to witness it undisturbed. Those who do not know enough to behave themselves at places of public entertainment should be barred out of such places altogether.

ORPHEUM. If it is only to see Hines and Remission in "The Road Queen," the bill at the Orpheum this week should not be missed. In the new Queen," the bill at the Orpheum this week should not be missed. In the new skit of this clever pair, Miss Hemington gives one of her latest creations—a female tramp—that is about as clever a bit of comedy work as has been seen on the boards in many a lay.

But "The Road Queen" is not the whole show, there are others guite as clever. The Doherty Sisters make their first appearance here in a singing and dancing turn that is good. They have plenty of wit and grace, and are breazy without being on the sandyaper.

"Too Many Darilings" introduces Georgia Gardner and Joseph Madden. The skit is full of snap, and gives those gifted comedians much room to display their talents. The skit deals with a "busy" young business man whose fondness for the races lures him away from office and work on numerous cecasions, a fact he conceals from his wife. She discovers the state of affairs by seeing his picture in a biograph view of the race, and a family row ensues, that is very well worked up.

The new purchasers, it is said, will proceed to put substantial improvements on the property. It fronts 120 feet on Olive street by 80 on Second. There is a deep hone below the Olive street grade, which will probably be used as a basement, a heavy retaining wall being put in to keep up the street. A block below a church is to be built on Hill street just south of Second, and the city will build an engine house on Hill just north of Second. the property of the Chamber of Commerce on Broadway between First and Second streets is acting as a stimulus in this vicinity.

An observant business man who was born and raised in this city said yesterday:

"Sunday I took my wife and we drove over a great part of Los Angeles I was surprised to see the homes going up in nearly all the portions we visited. The newspapers used to be full of notices of the number of homes going up in the days we called the "boom," but it would be a hard task to count the new houses being erected at this time?

"The area of the city is ten time."

The Quartette Mining Company is now interested in a narrow-gauge rail-road, to be built out from Needles. It was also a twenty-stamp mill at work at Needles on ore from the Searchlight mine. At present the ore is hauled by alter their place. Although the Searchlight mine it televen miles away, it will be necessary to lay about seventeen miles of track.

At present the Quartette mill is working on custom ores, and is kept so busy that the erection of twenty to forty additional stamps will be necessary. Although the company is The Quartette Mining Company is

"The area of the city is ten timer larger than in 1886, yet in all directions houses are being rushed up. They are a good style of residences, too, in almost all cases and some of them are very costly."

The newspaper reporter met a lumber dealer connected with one of the very largest firms in the city and saked "how is business?"

"Business?" It is excellent, we are selling a great deal of building material. Why do people build when the cost of a home is 15 per cent. or more greater than it was a year ago. Simply because the houses have to be built. The people are coming in her and must have a place to live in."

Then the scribe went to lunch and found a friend of the family come over from another part of the city. She said:

"Well, I am house hunting. My house is too small and I must have more room. But it is a difficult matter. There are so few houses to realize, All sorts of houses are being held for more rent. Small paces which used to rent for $10 a month are size, and so on up, the increase is from $2 to $10 per month."

Then the scribe reflected: "If this is the case in June, what will be the condition next winter?"

Echo Park at a rental of $5 a month, or allow H. W. Miller, the present lesse; to continue for $2. Finally it was determined to readvertise the bids at an expense of $10 or $12$ to the city, contrary to the recommendation of the Park Commission, which favored Barnett's bid.

The trouble arose over the neglect of Barnett to inclose a certified check for $50 with his bid, as specified in the adversight as far as possible by depositing cash for six months' rent in advance, but Councilman Bowen was afraid that the neglect to comply with the terms of the bid originally might involve the city in a damage suit. Attorney E. A. Meserve was present to represent Miller, and succeeded in gaining his request that his client be allowed another chance to bid.

The Park Commission held a special meeting, after the adjournment of the Council, and determined to do away with the boating privilege at the park cultiely. The Superintendent of Parks was instructed to notify the present lessee that his privilege is terminated.

Intending purchasers for the proposed telephone franchise in Los Angeles are increasing. Yesterday the City Council instructed the Board of Public Works to prepare an advertisement for the sale of a franchise for the operation of another telephone system in the city. The request for such action was made by Adrian M. King of Los Angeles.

At the afternoon session of the Council A. F. Gressler, who claims to represent the Western Electric Telephone Company, with headquarters at Britt, lows, stated that his company is anxious to bid on the franchise, and requested that the matter be allowed to go over for two weeks to give his principals time to come here and look over the situation. He said his company has in operation about 6000 miles of line in Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and South Dakota, installed in competition with the Bell service, and that in all cases the new line won the patronase of the people. He claims his company possessed ample capital to furnish a complete modern service, and maintain it so as to give thorough satisfaction.

Among the other inducements that will be offered by the new company will be the sale of the system to the city at the expiration of the franchise under conditions to be arranged later. This feature of ultimate municipal ownership of a complete telephone systems, said Mr. Gressler, has met with much favor in the eastern towns where his company is operating. He was asked to meet with the Board of Public Works next Friday afternoon, and offer anything the can in the way of suggestions for the sale of the franchise.

also the importance of the coming exhibition in St. Louis. The Supervisors regularly authorise this tax levy about September, and meantime they have the matter under advisement, wondering if it is necessary for the county, advertised as Southern California is at the present time, to spend $10,000 in fostering immigration the coming year. An ordinance is to be passed at once making the closed season for trout fishing begin on September 15, and end on June 1. Angiers will thus rejoice in angling until September 15—almost three months yet. The Creei Club wanted the closed season this year to begin on August 18.

Another ordinance will soon be passed repealing all county ordinances regulating the periods for lawfully taking game, on the ground that the State law is sufficiently stringent. A petition to this effect was presented by the Los Angeles County Fish and Game Protective Association.

Bids for the yearly drug contracts soon to be let by the county have been received from the Off & Vaughn Drug Company, the H. M. Sale Drug Company and Wolff & Chilson. Over half a dozen other firms were also asked to bid, but they did not do so. The bids are under advisement. AT THE COURT HOUSE BY LIQUOR DEALERS.

This is the law that has the appearance of a woodpile with a "nigger" ance of a woodpile with a "nigger" in it.

It is section No. 3366 of the Political Code, and reads as follows: "Boards of Supervisors of the counties of the State, and the legislative bodies of the incorporated cities and towns therein, shall, in the exercise of their police powers, and for the purpose of regulation, as herein provided, and not otherwise, have power to license all and every kind of business not prohibited by law and transacted and carried on within the limits of their respective jurisdictions.

The "nigger" is just here, that, since it is conceded that all police power within an incorporated city lies in the legislative body of that city, the county cannot exercise that power in such city, and its only power within an incorporated city is to license for purposes of revenue; but the new law especially provides that any exercise of power must be in a police capacity. And this power, as aforesaid, the county does not have within an incorporated city. It is on such a construction of the law that the retail dealers of Los Angeles contemplated all refusing to pay the county license of $15 a month on June 1, but concluded to do otherwise, prevailing upon Ffirmann to stand out alone and make a test case.

And this is what Pfirmann is doing.

PITZER NOW ON TRIAL.

Charles C. Pitser of the Whittier arm of Pitser Bros., dealers in sewing machines and musical merchandise, is on trial in the criminal court, charged jointly with his brother, John H. Pitser, with the crime of arson. The date of the fire was February 17, in the very early morning. It is alleged that the Pitzer boys set fire to their store to recover the issurance they carried. The building where they did business is owned by John C. Hlatt. Before the fire had gained much headway, however, meandering night birds noticed it, and promptly was an entrance effected, and the blaze extinguished.

That the cause of the flames was incendiary is not disputed by the defense, for kerosene was to be found everywhere in the store, but the Pitzers will contend that this was the work of enemies. They were at home in bed when the fire broke out. The amount of insurance carried was $1500, and several weeks previously one of the brothers had applied for $1200 more, but the defense will try to show that they had not yet paid for the policy at the time of the fire. This is considered a strong point in favor, of the defendants; if they had contemplated arson they would have owned the new policy. There is dispute over the value of the stock destroyed. One witness for the State has said it was worth only from $1500 to $1700, but the Pitzers are sure it was worth at least $4500.

The greater part of yesterday was occupied in selecting the foliowing jury: W. F. Ashbridge, William J. Anderson, W. E. Deming, W. G. Finch, Eugene W. Fortune, William A. High-

License Collector Tyler has notified the District Attorney of his inability to collect the tax for the current month, and the county will immedi-ately take steps in the matter. It is probable that both criminal and civil proceedings will be instituted. A civil case will close up the Bakers' Home saloon, on attachment, until the tax money is either paid into court or to the License Collector, whereas a criminal proceeding will put Pfirmann under arrest on a charge of selling liquor without a license, and a conviction would be followed by fine, or imprisonment, or both. Of course, as soon as Pfirmann were put behind the bars of the City Prison, instead of bailing him out the saloon men would probably endeavor to sue out a writ of habeas corpus in the Supreme Court, and thus have the law tested as quickly as possible.

But inasmuch as it appears that he sold the wheel for $1$ within an hour after he rented it, his conduct would show that he had violated his trust." Moreno must stand trial. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

TINY JUDGMENT. The former law partnership of Messrs. Dyer & Potter is a frazzled ruin, and now there is bitterness between them. The costs will amount to about $15.

ing-Unhappy Attempt to Bribe an Officer-Athletic Club Suit.

For unrighteously thumping Pastor Scholz in the back and impolitely calling his favorite pupil a "damn Dutchman." four little boys were confronted by the law yesterday. The names of the boys are Will Armstrong, George Armstrong, Russel Cameron and Leo Naney. They all live in the neighborhood permeated by Pastor Scholz, who preaches at the German Evangelical Church on San Julian street.

Pastor, Scholz has a little German class. One of his pupils is a boy named Carl.

"We do," they yelled back, hopefully.
But Johhanson's curiosity was evidently satisfied, for he rode on, and they sent a rock whissing after him. Then out fiew Pastor Schols.
He grabbed one of the boys by the arm, and brought down an attack on himself. He was the substitute for Carl now.
One of them tried to grab away the boy he held; another gave him a thump in the back and a third made faces at him.
"Russell to me a face made, and den dey heet me in de pak," he explained to the court yesterday.
Justice Austin fined them each $10, but suspended sentence during good behavior.

Justice Austin surveyed with amaze-ment a pair of litigants who came before him yesterday. Johnny Bonnishi, who was on trial before him yesterday.

Johnny Bonniahi, who was on trial for battery, was a little, snub-nosed boy, aged 10, and the complaining witness was 9.

Once upon a time, such difficulties were adjudicated in the wood shed, and sentence carried into execution straightway with a shingle. It took more time yesterday than a sure-enough lawsuit.

The complaining witness was a little crippled boy, named Milton Seeley, Milton had been pasted on the nose by Johnny.

The court was put wise by a little fellow named Richard.

"You see." said Richard, "this kid (Milton) got fresh at school and called Johnny some bad names, and Johnny said he was going to punch blim after school, nen after school he went and hit him in the nose."

Milton was a peaked little fellow, and he cried when he told the court how he had gone to the bakery for some bread, and Johnny had chased him into the store and waited for him to come out. Milton armed himself with some clode, which he threw, but these did not save him from settling punched. He ran home, streaming gore like a knocked-out prise fighter.

Johnny was a little tow-headed boy with a sailor suit. He surveyed the court with big scared blue eyes, and admitted that this was not his first battle.

"Are you in the habit of fighting?"

"Are you in the habit of fighting?" asked the court.
"No, thir." said the gladiator.
"Haven't you ever had any fights before this?"
"Yeth, thir, a few."
"Why d'dn't you report to your teacher when he called you names?" isked the court.
"I knew it wouldn't do go good,"

Wild Stabbing Affray.

Remnants of a wild row that took place in a saloon on San Fernando street Sunday morning, came up bandaged in the Police Court yesterday.

An Italian, named Napoleon Derico, went into the saloon and asked the bartender for a drink. The barkeep was a man named Joe Ventura. Being a person of singular virtue, and the city ordinance being "agin it," he refused to serve the drink.

whereupon Napoleon stanoed him and got his Waterloo all over his left ear.

Ventura was wild with wrath, and was not much hurt by the stab, for the knife only went in an inch or so.

He knocked the Italian down, and entertained himself and incidentally relieved his feelings by jumping on the side of his head.

Napoleon appeared in the Police Court yesterday with his head bound up the size of a turban, but Ventura, beyond a little paleness, showed no results of the encounter.

Ventura was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, but no complaint was made against Napoleon.

The police, not knowing how they are to keep Napoleon in sight to testify, were anxious to have Ventura swear to a complaint against him, but Ventura, acting on the clever advice of his lawyer, decided to freely forgive and forget.

Another Cutting Scrape.

Victor Rivera, who was the principa event in a cutting scrape down of Alameda street the other night, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday His victim, Francisco Salinas, is stil in the hospital.

Rivera stabbed in the course of drunken row. Both men were down in the street of the cribs, and on pumped into the other. The final to some brave talk was that River stuck a big clasp knife for a couple of inches into the carcass of Salinas.

Tried to Bribe Cop.

Tried to Bribe Cop.

Frank Tilden, arrested yesterday for violating the hitching ordinance, tried to bribe a police officer, with results that were not happy.

When he was first placed under arrest Tilden was defiant and abusive. Officer Collins had given him some order that he resented, and he defied the cop to take him to the station.

Once under arrest, however, his ardor cooled, and, he is alleged to have quietly slipped a dollar into Collins's hand as they were on the way to the lockup.

Collins was crasy mad, and steamed with language of a sort that has been handled with asbestos gloves. The more he thought about it, the madder he got.

Tilden told the judge that he thought he could pay his fine to the officer, and save the bother of going to court. Collins says, however, that he did not say anything about a fine.

Tilden was fined 33.

Alfredo Girardo, a Mexican, who is said to take dope, pleaded guilty to petty larceny in the Police Court yesterday. He admitted the taking of six bottles of milk, and two loaves of bread from a store on Castelar street, but said that he was out of his head at the time.

His sentence was set for today, but it is possible that insanity charges may be preferred against him instead.

His suit was the aftermath of the smash-up of the old Athletic Club. He asks judgment against the individual members of the now defunct organisation on fourteen assigned claims, ranging from promissory notes to cigarbills, and including rent bills, laundry accounts, lighting bills, etc. The total amount sued for is $3220.20.

Of the 600 defendants, they are sued for their shares of the whole claim in amounts ranging from 18 cents to $7.82. So many copies of the complaint had to be gotten out that it was printed. The prospect of serving all the defendants with copies is nothing short of appalling. The task is somewhat complicated by the fact that several named are now in heaven or elsewhere.

Dies in Manila-A Widow and Many Friends Mourn Him Here.

A cablegram signed by Charles Jenkins was received in this city yes-terday from Manila, announcing the death in that city of James Buck, a former resident of Los Angeles, last Wednesday. The cause of death was not stated.

Buck was well known in this city by the sobriquet of "Father Ducey."
He was for several years employed as barkeeper at the Hollenbeck bar and later at the Richelieu and Hoffman ot stated.

Buck was an original character, and one of the best men in his business. He was noted far and wide for his ready wit and his various accomplishments.

Dooley," and he was no less a statesman and philosopher than the Chicago sage.

"Father Ducey," as his familiars delighted to call him, was a native of Maine, Boy and man he was a great admirer of James G. Blaine, with whose sons he attended school, and a most earnest exponent of Republican politics. In a political argument he was invincible, and many were the patrons of the bar over which he presided who called for no other purpose than for the pleasure of hearing him discuss the issues of the day.

"Ducey" was such an ardent expansionist that he started for the Philippines soon after the American occupation of Manila. He was preceded thither by Charley Jenkins, who formerly was chief clerk of the Hollenbeck and Nadeau hotels, this city, Jenkins now is manager of the two leading hotels in Manila, and he installed Buck as manager of the bars of his two hostelries, immediately upon the latter's arrival at the Philippine capital.

At last accounts Buck was in good health and doing well. His death, therefore, was a great surprise, as well as regret, to his many friends in this city. Buck was 42 years of age. He is survived by a widow, who resides here, having but lately returned from Manila. His body will be embalmed and probably later be brought to this country for interment.

THE MOST DESTRUCTIVE OF ALL HUMAN DISEASES.

The poison ejected from the fangs of the rattle-snake is not more surely fatal than the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, which pollutes and vitiates the blood, destroys the tissues and bones and eats like a canker sore into the flesh.

This disease appears first in the form of a little sore or blister; soon the glands begin to swell, pimples break out on the body, the mouth and throat become sore, making it painful to eat or swallow; dreadful ulcers appear on the tongue, copper colored splotches and other characteristic signs of Blood Poison come as the disease progresses, and the destructive virus takes deeper hold upon the system. The medical men are as sorely perplexed over the character of this blood poison as ever; they tell you to take mercury and potash alternately for throw any other source. It describes accurately and fully the symptoms as they appear in each stage of the malady, enabling the reader to correctly diagnose his own case, and, by following the instructions laid down in this book, to successfully treat himself at home. Should the patient need any special direction or advice, our physicians will be glad to correspond with and help him along in every possible way. Don't heasttate to write fully about your condition; what you have to say about yourself will never go beyond our office. created, but only the best of their particular class, and such expositions as this we are visiting establishes classes.

By day one may wander about, may criticize, compare, analyze, but when at 8:30 o'clock in the evening the grand illumination takes place, he can only breathlessly admire the most marvelous scene of beauty ever created by human hands. Crowning the vast buildings, outlining their every curve, angle, window and turret, the light of six hundred thousand electric lamps transforms the rainbow city into a vision of the New Jerusalem. The great tower that stands overlooking the grand basin and the Court of the Fountains, and is crowned 350 feet from the base with a golden Spirit of Light, is a tower of stars. Its ornamentation of curves and angles and carved lacework are outlined in stars. A rose flower garland of stars riots about its dome, whose pure outline against the purple darkness of the sky is the celestial beauty of the stars. The evidence of human labor seems to be obliterated, the city of palaces, the statues, the bronze columns crowned with star clusters—all these seem to be the creation of Him about whom suns and systems revolve. Then, as the fillumination is completed, when the full giery and beauty of the wonderful scene is comprehended, the band plays on the winder of the universe, and the spell of immortal light' rests upon him.

From this bit of heaven, by some strange perversity of human nature, we turn to the Midway. Such a Midway was never before seen upon this continent for the universe, and the spell of immortal light' rests upon him.

The Midway Unequaled and Los Angeles Elephant in Good Health.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) June 18.—We BUFFALO (N. Y.) June 18.—We were "put off at Buffalo" one day last week and have reveled ever since in the giories of the Pah-American Exposition. Of course, we went first of all straight to the Horticultural Building and to its center of attraction—the Los Angeles county exhibit—finding the elephant in excellent condition and the characteristic products of Sunland so artistically displayed that they are the wonder and admiration of the sightneers. All Californians gravitate naturally to this exhibit. "They come all the way from the Pacific Coast to sit down and admire They come all the way from the Pacific Coast to sit down and admire their own oranges," said genial "Bob" Burdette, whom we met in the forecourts yesterday, just returned from a year of globe-trotting and more in love with California than ever.

e Indian of the Midway is pleasing picturesque. His war bonnet is pagies' feathers plucked from the Paine, Grover Rouse Clarence Judson The Indian of the Midway is pleasing and picturesque. His war bonnet is of eagles' feathers plucked from the Thanksgiving turkey. His calico shirt is louder than his war whoop. He wears a string of sleigh belis down the outside seam of his trouser's legs. He chews gum or smokes cigars as he perambulates. To see him in his war aspect, mounted upon his cayuse, careering madly upon the sawdust, uttering shrill yells and shaking his war pennant, is a thrilling sight. The names that were terrors on the border are given forth as belonging to him. As he executes his war dance or makes a mimic attack upon whilom enemies, we pay him the tribute of a shiver, but we realize that when the exposition of the first year of the twenty-first century is held, this noble savage, if he appear upon the Midway of that remote time, will be only in effigy.

Of course, the Midway has its Cairo street, its donkeys, camels and elephants, and its persistent merchants, who will sell you for 300 per cent. of their real value all sorts of useless ornaments you don't want. There are pahoramas, cycloramas, illusions, merry-go-rounds, "stunts" of every conceivable sort to catch the nimble nickel, and you get your mone; sworth. It is a jolly crowd that throngs

It is a jolly crowd that throngs the Midway and assembles about some loud-voiced "touter," who uses his utmost eloquence to persuade you that this is "the greatest show on the grounds," and there is the throbbing, virile, interesting humanity that gives the Midway its rerennial charm.

One very admirable feature of the exposition is the manner in which the throngs are handled by the transportation companies. Whether you choose the trolley or the steam railways, ample provision for carrying the crowds is at hand, and so numerous are the lines with access to the grounds that all visitors are easily accommodated. I shall not undertake to describe the exhibits in the different departments, the new contributions to art, science and mechanics to be found here. They must be seen to be appreciated, and must be studied to be comprehended. I am impressed by the fact that this peace-boving people shows a remarkable interest in the implements of war and that there is always a crowd about the great guns and the models of the battleships. The dynamite gun that was in the thick of the Santiago ficht is petted affectionately by many a fair hand, and the girls as well as the

The neat tent village of the solders attracts many visitors, and the evening parade and drill of the marines is a feature of the exposition. These marines are handsome, stalwart fellows, who were with Dewey in Manila Bay, were in Chinese waters during the Boxer troubles, or helped "bottle m" the Sanniards at Santiago. They are businesslike and dignified, and they answer questions with an intelligence and courtesy that is delightful. And such questions as we may hear put to them in the course of a half day! I sometimes wonder how some people can live in an age of newspapers and know as little as they do. Their achievements in the line of ignorance are resilv more remarkable than the most brilliant feet of intellect, for they resemble the refusal of metal to melt under heat or water to congeal under cold.

The "Pan" part of the Pan-American countries are still without a finished house for their exhibits, to the great disappointment of visitors. Only four of the State buildings are fully ready, and it will be mid July before everything is in smooth running order. I would therefore, advise all contemplating a trip to the Pan-American Exposition is well worth seeing, the illumination alone being worth a trip across the continent.

Tangle of Title to Oil Land That Might Stand as a Record Breaker.

In a brief opinion rendered here yesterday Judge. Wellborn of the United States Circuit Court practically decides a case involving the real or al-leged right of contending parties to 180 acres of oil lands in the Coalinga field.

lie oil-land speculation.

The case is entitled California Oil and Gas Company of Arisona vs. E. O. Miller and New York Oil Company, is which an injunction was asked, and that the title should be quieted. In reply the court sustained the demurrer to the second amended bill of complaint, and dismissed the case for lack of ju-pany, which sold out to E. O. Miller in 1896.

The complaint alleges that in the same year, in order to evade the cost of the assessment work for that year. Miller quit-claimed the land to the government in order to have a chance to relocate it with seven other citisens of Visalia, which was done December 31, 1896. In the following August these seven partners sold out to Miller and then he leased the land to the New York Oil Company.

Instead of going to the State courts to find Just who did not own that famous 160 acres, the California Oil and Gas Company asked the Federal Court for an injunction to prevent Miller et al. from boring in the ground for oil. Miller demurred to the original bill of complaint on the ground that no equity question was involved, making the point that the court had no jurisdiction. This demurrer was sustained and a second amended bill of complaint was filed, on leave to amend. A second demurrer was filed by Miller on "lack of jurisdiction," and this demurrer was sustained yesterday a second time for the same reason, and the case dismissed, after having been on the docket for almost four years.

sustained yesterday a second time for the same reason, and the case dismissed, after having been on the docket for aimost four years.

Although it lacks local interest the case is remarkable as showing how easily titles to oil lands may become so hopelessly involved as to be practically worthless to any one except an attorney, who might become a millionaire by handling the case. When asked yesterday who owned the land, the Federal Court attacks "gave it up," which evidently is what all the parties should have done five years ago. The Circuit Court, however, has just freed itself of the task of finding the legal owner. The finding of the court yesterday, while it does not touch the merits of the case in any way, probably decides it, and it is expected a settlement of the disputed ownership will be arranged between the parties in interest for financial reasons. It costs a barrel of money to have high-salaried attorneys take a case to the United States Supreme Court, where it might be kept for years, and then sent back to the State courts or the land office for a trial on the merits.

W. H. Hart, president, of the Callfornia Oil and Gas Company, is ex-Attorney-General of this State, and Is associated in this enterprise and others with men of wealth, who can afford the luxury of a case in the highest court. On, the other hand, E. O. Miller, who asserts ownership to the land, is a good attorney himself, and has money to burn. It is said he was heavily interested in the famous Blue Goose oil-well property in Fresno county, which he sold to Mrs. Phoebe Hearst for a price close to $1,000,000. ency. London Practitioner Devotes Himself to Canine Customers and Makes with regret that dogs may nave their teeth drawn or filled, says the Youth's Companion.

At present the only dog dentist is supposed to be in London, but there is no telling how soon existence in the United States may be further complicated for the good man who pays the family bills by an account with Dr. Stopen, such as:

"Filling Fido's bbcuspid, 35."

"Crowning Nero, 310."

"Extracting Prinny's right molar under ether, 31.75."

However, as dogs have teeth there is no reason why they should not have toothache, and if they have toothache, why should they not be taken to a dentiat to have the offending teeth drawn?

A good deal of the snapping and snarling of pupples is due to teething. As in infants of the human race, new teeth come and try to push the old ones out, and sometimes serious complications ensue. So the dog dentist has to take out the milk teeth and give the second ones a chance.

The London dentist who devotes him-from time to time on the basis of goods made and sold. With a capital of $50,000 a man may do a business of many hundred thousands in this way. If goods are sold on sixty days credit, the producer can discount at a bank a bill drawn against those goods, and use the proceeds at once in buying more stock, paying more wages than if he controlled only his own capital. This sort of operation is so general that, in the world of commerce, the sums borrowed are enormous. But if any producer, firm or company has the least intention of continuing in business from year to year; if they are looking to the future to build up a clientele of buyers; if they expect to get and maintain credit at the banks when their paper must be discounted, it goes without saying that a promise must always be scrupulously kept, that goods must be exactly as represented in weight, length, quality, etc., until the name of the firm becomes a synonym for honorable treatment far more valuable in the end than any trademark.

COMMERCIAL MORALITY NECES-SARY.

If any over-smart man, too anxious to get rich to be honest in his business, wishes to ruin himself, he can do it in a very brief time by selling goods inferior to the description and by falling to meet his notes when due. Not to keep a business engagement, not to pay a note when due, is to throw up the sponge as a business man. Keep his credit he must, whether he is honest at heart or not. Any one who has had practical experience in business can mention persons of his acquaintance whom he would not trust in private affairs, who are kept to a rigid fulfillment of their public business obligations by the stress of necessity created by commercial morality. The situation which bases success on business honor at first gets the man who is morally weak into a habit, which in the long run becomes more or less unconscious. A man who has shrewdness enough to exercise good judgment as to the course of prices in the market is likely to learn by experience that it is equally a matter of good business judgment always to keep his word. "It pays to be honest." If he cannot obtain credit in an emergency because of his slippery and dubious methods he goes to the wall.

regarded as synonymous with traffice between States and nations. Commerce may be defined as exchanging goods, including the transportation of them by sea and land. In this sense, however, commerce is only one part of the productive powers, in which industry, or the manufacturing and producing parts, forms the earlier steps: for, after goods have taken on their finished form, it is still a part of the work of production to carry goods to the consumer. The popular meaning of commerce also includes exchanges of products of different climates and soils, the disposition of surplus goods by sale to distant or foreign consumers. When we speak of commerce the mind naturally reverts to the voyages of the Hanseatic merchants, or to the markets of Venice or London.

The addition made to the prices of goods by transferring them from the places of production to the places of consumption, which is the popular characteristic of commerce, is illus

MAKING RIGHT ACTIONS HABITUAL.

This economic interdependence is likely to increase rather than decrease in the new century; if so, the morality involved in this interpendence is likely to assume greater importance to society as time goes on. But the perculiar influence of this situation on morals is not far to seek. When one understands the tremendous responsibility put upon the word of each man in this complicated chain of connected relationship, the terrible consequence of faithlessness in bringing on wide-spread ruin, the blasting of social and business reputations involved in such a strong power exists, holding men by a premium of self-interest to an accurate and faithful execution of their engagements. There is thus created a system of ethics in the business world by which honor, faithfulness, honesty and integrity are promoted by a necessity based on self-interest. The evolutionary influence of such a system in building up the habit of moral action in the commercial world, slowly changing flabby tissue late seasoned muscle, is a matter not to be lightly overlooked in making an estimate of what may take place in the future. That does not mean that sporadic cases of immorality may never shock an astonished public; but it does mean that with our growing population and the coming larger wealth there will be a greater absolute mass of right-doing in business affairs.

TRIES.

I am aware that this general point of view may be regarded as unduly optimistic by those who can instantly recall cases of embezziement, fraud and dishonesty in business. But it will at once be regarded as true by every one that fraud and dishonesty are not othronic nor universal. So long as men are imperfect there will be lapses from the right; but there cannot be a shadow of doubt that the loudly-pub-coins, those of every known country, and of different weight and fineness, and credited the depositor with the actual metallic value of the coins, in such a way that their value could be transferred without being removed from the bank, and so without danger of loss. This exceptional services to commerce caused the trade of the two commerces caused the trade of the quality of the means of payment had been removed. In a similar way the Bank of Amsterdam greatly influenced for a long time the volume of trade by the Dutch.

During the present century it was the good fortune of Great Britain to have established a given standard in list, and to have adherred to it without any question of change from that time to this. But, after all, perhaps it was misplaced. Women, especially in affairs of the heart, view events from a peculiar and unexpected standpoint. SHARKS BY THE SCORE. SAN PEDRO, June 24.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] Paul Falcone, one of the local fishermen, was out all last night attending his gill nets off last night attending his gill nets off White's Point. Early this morning a score of sharks of various siezs got into the nets and Falcone had a lively time disposing of them in the semi-darkness. One of the biggest of them was supposed by him to be a fish. With a gaff hook he hauled it close to the boat, gave it a hard blow on the head with a club and, after a prolonged tussie, succeeded in hauling it aboard his craft. Then he found that it was a shark and cast it overboard. He thinks it was fifteen feet long.

The chapel was handsomely decorated with ferns and flowers, and the six young men contestants were ushered in by young iddles from the freshman class. The question for debate was: "Should a United States Senator vote on measures in the Senate in accordance with his own convictions rather than the expressed wish of his constituency?"

Leonard Withington of Escondido, Edmund M. Pease, Jr., of Claremont, Edward R. Milliken of Passadena, James D. Culbertson of San Bernardino, and Carl V. Newman of Chino spoke on the affirmative. Robert Fountain of Banning was the only speaker on the negative.

Entertaining arguments were advanced by all the debaters. The first prize, $16 worth of books, was awarded to Edward R. Milliken, and the second prize, $5 worth of books, to Leonard Withinston. COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

DEATH OF ESTEEMED WOMAN.

AVALON, June 24.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The flags about town are at half-mast, and from 2 p.m. to 2 o'clock all the business houses of every description were closed in honor of the memory of Mrs. E. E. McLeod, whose death occurred last night. Mrs. McLeod had been identified with the business interests here for several years, having two curio stores and acting as news agent for a part of the time, although her home was in Pasadena. Her illness was of short duration, as she was up and about as late as last Tuesday, although far from well at that time.

Mrs. McLeod was held in high esteem for her sterling qualities, She was public-spirited and thoroughly unselfish, as was evidenced by her life. Her home was filled with children, at least a dozen at different times having found shelter for varying periods under her roof when in need, although she never had a child of her own. Four of these homeless ones she raised from infancy, and she has stood in their regard as a mother. They are in their regard as a mother. They are F. W. JAMES M. NICHOLS DEAD.

The death of James Montgomery Nichols occurred at his home, Florai Park, here last evening, from heart failure. Mr. Nichols was 73 years old, and had been in frail health for the past two years, but had apparently been better of late, and was out only a short time ago. He came here about ten years ago from New York State, and settled on a ranch home in the Packard Orange Grove tract. The deceased was a member of Pomona Lodge, F. and A. M., and had many friends. He leaves a widow, two sons, J. E. E. Nichols and R. A. Nichols, and two daughters, Mrs. J. C. Brown of Los Angeles and Mrs. J. N. Woodworth of Sioux City, Iowa. Funeral services will be conducted from the late residence, Magoric Lodge will attend in a body, and conduct services at the cemetery. POMONA BREVITIES.

The High School Cadets left early this morning for their annual camping trip, which will be spent this year at Long Beach. About forty-five are in the party, under command of Maj. E. A. Reynolds. Capt. Phil Weber and Lieut. R. Casey. The boys anticipate a jolly outing. They are traveling in two large wagons.

G. A. Lathrop, who is alleged to have disregarded quarantine restrictions imposed on his home a while ago, is on trial before the City Recorder, and a jury today. Evidence given thus far tends to show that the defendant went out under a misapprehension of the restrictions.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.
COVINA, June 24.—(From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The baccalaureate sermon to the Covina High School class of 1901, preached by the Rev. S. H. Enyeart, in the Covina M. E. Church yesterday attracted an overflowing congregation, many being unable to get in. On the platform were Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor of the Christian Church, Rev. C. M. Jones, pastor of the Baptist Church, and Rev. S. H. Enyeart. The musical programme consisted of a voluntary by Miss Stauter, anthem by the choir of the Christian Church, and a solo by Walter Wheeler. Rev. Mr. Enyeart earnestly exhorted the members of the class to build for a foundation characters which would redound to the honor and giory of their Creator, and without which no iasting or satisfying success can be secured either in this world or the world to come. The members of the class are Eva Grace Enyeart, Ethel Hilda King, Pearl May Graham, Florence Archer, Ada Eleanor Archer.

Heroic Work of an Engineer on an Illinois Central Hand Car—His Long Service Record.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

CHICAGO, June 24.—After having sounded the cry that saved the life of his wife and in an endeavor to prevent a possible train wreck in which he feared scores of persons would perish, Frederick H. Davies, for many years prominent as a civil engineer on lines running out of Chicago, sustained injuries from which he died last night.

Davies has for some time been acting as engineer for the Baltimore and Ohio at Milford, Ind., near which city the grade of the road is being changed. The work was under Mr. Davies's direction, and he was in the habit of riding from place to place along the line on a hand car. Observing that there were quantities of wild strawberries along the right of way near his work, Davies invited his wife to accompany him to Milford for an outing. They reached the place about noon, and in the afternoon set out for the strawberry fields, Mrs. Davies gring as a passenger on a hand car, propelled by her husband and one of his road men.

Returning in the evening, the triouter of the strawberry fields.

Not a Rector Here.

In connection with the recently published statements in the daily press concerning the alleged insanity of Mrs.
Clara Fisher of this city an investigation shows that her husband, who was raid to have been the rector of an Episcopal Church in Boston and Boyle Heights during his life, never was in charge of a church of that denomination on Boyle Heights. The records show that no Episcopal church in this diccese ever had a rector of that name.

A meeting will be held at No. 431
North Beaudry avenue this evening for the purpose of organising a Northwest Men's Band. The purpose of this organization will be the same as that of the band which for the last three years has existed on Boyle Heights it is a non-sectarian company, with the alm of converting men to Christianity.
Since the first work of the Boyle' Heights Band, the idea has spread considerably, and now similar bands are holding regular meetings in other cities.
Members of the Boyle Heights Band will be present at the meeting this evening.

Improvement League.

Last night the Citizens' Southwest Improvement League held the most enthusiastic meeting since its organization. In addition to the improvements already hoted in The Times, this organization has secured the surveying of Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets, with a view to their further Improvement, the palms along the streets have been trimmed, and many hedges have been removed. The httching ordinance recently passed by the City Council was also proposed by the league. At the meeting last night the need of more street lights was directed of the secure the lighting of the dark corners of University.

Raval Militia at Play. Naval Militia at Play.

The Navai Militia spent Sunday as Darvanza, and they had a "high, old time." Among other amusements was Garvansa, and they had a "high, old time." Among other amusements was a sham battle, which was quite real in some of its features. A squad of twenty men was detailed to capture a detail of four others who were supposed to be skifmishers in advance of the enemy. They finally accomplished the task, but it was after a long and hard chase. Before the crowd left Garvanza for the city, in the evening, the superintendent of the San Gabriel electric blant unexpectedly invited them to a spread, which he had prepared while they were exercising in the field. In return for his unsolicited kindness he will be elected an honorary member of the militia.

and Thorpe

That Frankle Morris and Bertle Childs were not killed or badly injured on North Main street last night was due more to luck than their own efforts. Both were wildly drunk, and, hiring a fast horse, they started out to "do" the town. After driving for an hour or more, stopping at every saicon where they could buy drinks, they whipped their horse into a run and started up Main street from First. The street is being repaired, and is covered with piles of sand, "obblestones and asphaltum. Over these piles they drove, narrowly missing other rigs and causing pedestrians to run into siores for safety, for they were as often on the sidewalk as in the street. They stopped at a saloon for another drink, and Detective Flammer arrested both of them.

The death Sunday night of Joseph Stottenberg removes a figure which has long been familiar to the business men of Los Angeles. For more than twenty years he had been collector for the First National Bank, and in the discharge of his daily duties he had well earned a high reputation for integrity and regular business methods. His name became a synonym for honesty and promptness, and he will be missed by the many who have learned to respect and esteem him. He was of German parentage, and possessed the sturdy traits, both mental and physical, which so frequently characterize men of that ancestry. Unwilling to admit the inroads of disease, he continued his daily rounds, although urgently advised by the officers of the bank to take a vacation, until he should be stronger, and only gave up his work last Wednesday. He had a host of friends whose sympathies will go out to his widow and family in their sorrow. Their children are Miss Clara Stoltenberg, receptress at Stanford University: Miss Ella Stottenberg, teacher in our city schools; and Carl Stottenberg, now engaged in business in Seattle.
